Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1879,
BY J. F. FRUEAUFF,
In the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington.

SIXTH EDITION, CORRECTED AND ENLARGED, 1879,

---

PUBLISHED BY J. F. FRUEAUFF,
COLUMBIA, LANCASTER COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA.

TO THE PUBLIC.

---

The Sixth Annual Catalogue makes its appearance, encouraged by the innumerable favorable opinions expressed as to its usefulness and reliability by business men, lawyers and judges in all parts of the United States, with a largely extended sphere of usefulness. I will feel thankful for the address of a reliable attorney in any of the counties unprovided, as also for any information relating to death, removal or unreliability (in strictest confidence) of any one named herein. The perfect reliability of the work is our chief aim.

Please, when addressing attorneys, state that their address was obtained through this source.

The State and Counties are alphabetically arranged, and the population of Counties remain those of the United States Census of 1870, because no more recent and uniform reliable table for all the States could be secured. No new Edition will be published until after the completion of the new United States Census of 1880. Of Foreign Countries, the populations are taken from their last official census.

UNITED STATES LEGAL JOURNAL SUPPLEMENT.

In this department I intend giving brief notices of the various Law Journals published, for the benefit of the many lawyers, both in Europe and America, who are desirous of obtaining the best. In future editions I hope to increase the notices until every Law Journal on the face of the globe, in no matter what language published, shall be properly noticed.

THE LEGAL INTELLIGENCER is published at No. 132 South 6th street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, weekly, by I. M. POWER WALLACE, at an annual subscription of Three Dollars, the first number having appeared December 2, 1843. It has prompt and accurate reports of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court decisions, as also of the Local Courts of Pennsylvania, and is the oldest Law Journal published in America.

THE AMERICAN LAW REGISTER is published monthly, in Philadelphia, by D. B. CANFIELD & Co., at an annual subscription of Five Dollars, the first number having appeared November, 1852. Among its editors are some of the ablest jurists of America.

THE PITTSBURG LEGAL JOURNAL is published weekly, by John F. Murray, at No. 73 Grant street, Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, at an annual subscription of Three Dollars and twenty cents. The first number appeared in 1853. It furnishes especially early reports of the various interesting cases arising in the Pittsburg Courts.

THE INTERNAL REVENUE RECORD AND CUSTOMS JOURNAL, is published weekly by W. C. & F. P. Church, at 245 Broadway, New York, at an annual subscription of Five Dollars. The first number appeared January 1, 1865, and it publishes officially the latest decisions of all the Courts and the Treasury Department, interpreting the United States laws for the collection of the revenues.

THE WESTERN JURIST is published monthly, by Mills & Co., at Des Moines, Iowa, at an annual subscription price of Five Dollars. The first number appeared February 1, 1867, and furnishes advance head notes of many western decisions of general interest.

THE NATIONAL BANKRUPT REGISTER REPORTS are published by Campbell & Co., at No. 21 Park Row, New York, every two weeks, at a subscription of Five Dollars per volume, there being about two volumes per year. The first number appeared in 1867, and its special features are indicated by the expressive title.

THE CHICAGO LEGAL NEWS is published weekly, at Chicago, Illinois, by Myra Bradwell, a lady, at an annual subscription of Two Dollars. The first number appeared October 3, 1868, and it is specially the medium of the local decisions of Chicago Courts and the Supreme Court of Illinois.

THE LANCASTER BAR is published weekly, at No. 13 North Duke street, Lancaster, Pennsylvania, by John H. Barnes, at an annual subscription of Two Dollars. The first number appeared June 1, 1869, and it is specially prompt in reporting local decisions of importance in an Orphans' Court practice as well as that of the rich agricultural community in which it appears, viz.: the garden of America.

THE ALBANY LAW JOURNAL is published weekly, at Albany, New York, by Weed Parsons & Co., at an annual subscription of Five Dollars. The first number appeared January 1, 1870, and it is specially rich in able and interesting biographical and philosophical articles upon the various legal men and matters of the day. For law students its columns are particularly instructive.

THE INSURANCE LAW JOURNAL is published monthly, by C. C. Hine, at No. 176 Broadway, New York, at an annual subscription of Five Dollars. The first number appeared September, 1871, and it is devoted exclusively to Insurance Law, and having regular connections with the Clerks of all Courts of Appeal, Federal and State, the latest decisions of Insurance cases are given in advance of other Legal Journals.

THE SOUTHERN LAW REVIEW is published bi-monthly, by G. J. Jones & Co., at St. Louis, Missouri, at an annual subscription of Five Dollars. The first number appeared January, 1872, and its special characteristics are full and learned articles by the ablest thinkers and jurists upon abstract questions of right, as well as upon the practical problems of law in daily life.

THE LUZERNE LEGAL REGISTER is published weekly at Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, by George B. Kulp, at an annual subscription of Three Dollars. The first number appeared January, 1872, and its special characteristics are the prompt reporting of the local decisions of Luzerne county, being of special interest to a mining practice.

THE CENTRAL LAW JOURNAL is published weekly, by N. H. Stevenson, at St. Louis, Missouri, at an annual subscription of Five Dollars. The first number appeared January, 1874, and its special characteristics are able leading articles on law topics and the advance reporting cases in the highest courts of the Western and Southern States.

THE WASHINGTON LAW REPORTER is published weekly, by George B. Corkhill, at Washington, District of Columbia, at an annual subscription of Four Dollars. The first number appeared January, 1874, and its special characteristics are the reports of the local Courts upon the peculiar jurisprudence of the District of Columbia, as well as full reports of important cases in the Supreme Court of the United States.

GREAT BRITAIN.

I. The first treaty between the United States and Great Britain was concluded Nov. 30th, 1782, at Paris, and was intended, as the Preamble recites, "To secure to both perpetual peace and harmony."

Article I. Acknowledged the Independence of the Thirteen Original States.

Article II. Defines the original boundaries.

Article III. Gives the fishermen of both countries the unmolested reciprocal right of fishery on the bands of Newfoundland, Gulf of St. Lawrence, etc., together with the right of the American fishermen to dry and cure fish on any of the unsettled bays, harbors and creeks of Nova Scotia, Magdalen Islands and Labrador.

Article IV. Creditors on either side shall meet with no lawful impediment in the recovery of debts heretofore contracted.

Article V. Confiscations of estates by individual States to be repealed.

Article VI. No further confiscations to take place.

Article VII. Hostilities to cease and British armies to be withdrawn.

Article VIII. Navigation of the Mississippi to be free to subjects of both countries.

This Treaty was to take effect only when Great Britain and France should conclude a treaty, which was done Jan. 20th, 1783.

2. Then the definitive Treaty was concluded the 3d of September, 1783, and embraced the same points.

3. A Treaty of Amity, Commerce and Navigation was concluded Nov. 19, 1794.

Article II. Provided for the withdrawal of all British troops from garrisons and forts within the United States, and guaranteed to all settlers and traders therein their full rights of property and liberty.

Article III. Gives free intercourse between the citizens of either country, or the Indians dwelling near the boundaries. Provides that no higher duties shall be charged to citizens of either country than to their own citizens. Indians shall be allowed to carry their own goods and effects without paying duties. No higher tolls or rates of ferriage shall be demanded on either side than are payable by citizens of the same country, and both governments promise to give speedy and impartial justice and secure protection to the citizens of both countries alike.

Article IV. Provides for a joint survey of the northern part of the Mississippi river.

Article V. Provides for Commissioners to fix the boundaries of the River St. Croix.

Article IX. Secures to citizens of either country full right to hold, grant, sell, or devise real estate now owned by them in either country.

Article X. Declares that the debts from individuals of one nation to individuals of the other, or in the Public Funds, shall not be confiscated.

The Treaty of the 4th of May, 1796, secures additional privileges of free intercourse for the Indians and traders residing among them, who live near the borders of either country.

The Treaty of Dec. 4th, 1814, provides in Article 1, That all possessions taken by either party during the preceding war, as also all archives, records, deeds, and papers taken by either party be restored to their owners.

Article 2 provides for the cessation of hostilities and the restoration of subsequent captures.

Article 4 fixes and determines the North-eastern boundary between the United States and Great Britain.

Article 5 fixes the boundary from the source of the river St. Croix.

Article 6 fixes the boundary from a point in the 45th degree of North Latitude.

Article 7 regulates the boundary from the last point to the water communication between Lakes Huron, Superior and the Lake of the Woods.

The Treaty of July 3d, 1815, is specially directed for the protection of reciprocal liberty of commerce to the citizens of both nations.

Article 2 provides that there shall be perfect equality of duties on imports, equality of prohibitions, whether of exportation or importation, as also equality in all port dues, and that vessels of either country are to be on an equal footing.

Duties on exports and drawbacks are to be alike, but the trade between the United States and the British West Indies is excepted from the general provisions of this Treaty.

Article 3 provides the restrictions upon the American trade with the British East Indies.

Article 4 authorizes the appointment of consuls for the protection of trade in the respective countries.

Treaty of April 28th, 1817, fixes the naval force to be kept up by each country on the Lakes.

Treaty of Oct. 20th, 1818, arranges for the northern boundary of the United States; determines more definitely the common rights of fisheries upon the waters adjacent to the British possessions in America.

Treaty of June 18th, 1822, determines as the result of the Commissioner's surveys the whole northern boundary of the United States.

Treaty of July 12th, 1822, provides for the division and apportionment of the indemnity paid to the United States by Great Britain for slaves freed during the progress of the preceding war.

Treaty of Aug. 9th, 1842, in Article 1st, re-arranges the boundary line between the United States and the British possessions.

Article 3d regulates the navigation of the River St. John.

Articles 4, 5, 6 and 7 make grants of part of the territory now in the States of Maine and Massachusetts, and re-arranges the boundary lines there adjacent.

In Article 8, both nations stipulate to equip and maintain on the coast of Africa a fleet for the suppression of the African slave trade.

Article 10 agrees upon the extradition and "delivering up to justice of all persons who being charged with the crime of murder, or assault with intent to commit murder, or piracy, or arson, or robbery, or forgery, or the utterance of forged paper, committed within the jurisdiction of either, and who shall seek an asylum or shall be found within the territories of the other." The expenses of the apprehension and delivery of the fugitive shall be borne by the party making the requisition. This extradition shall only be done upon such evidence of criminality as according to the laws of the place where the fugitive so charged shall be found, would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime or offense had there been committed.

The Treaty of June 15th, 1846. Article 1 establishes the boundary line between the United States and the British possessions west of the Rocky mountains.

Article 2 provides for the free navigation of the Columbia River by the Hudson's Bay Company, and all British subjects trading with the same.

Article 3 guarantees the possessory rights of British subjects in the territory south of the 49th parallel north latitude.

The Treaty of April 19th, 1850 regulates the joint possession and protectorate of the ship canal by way of Nicaragua, between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, assumed by the United States and Great Britain.

The Treaty of December 9th, 1850 provides for the cession by Great Britain of Horse-shoe Reef in Lake Erie to the United States, for the purpose of erecting a light house thereon.

The Treaty of February 8th, 1853 arranges for the adjustment of claims of citizens of one country against the other country subsequent to the 24th of December, 1814.

The Treaty of April 7th, 1862 provides for the suppression of the African slave trade.

The Treaty of July 1st, 1863 provides for the settlement of the claims of the Hudson's Bay and Puget's Sound Agricultural Companies by the United States Government.

The Treaty of May 13th, 1870 declares who are to be deemed respectively naturalized citizens of either country. It also gives the naturalized citizen the liberty to renounce his naturalization and resume his original citizenship.

The Treaty of February 23d, 1871 further permits the renunciation of naturalizations by native-born subjects.

The Treaty of May 8th, 1871, provides for the arbitration of the so-called Ala- bama claims and establishes the commission for the adjustment of the same, and rules for its government. It also provides in the 18th, 19th, 20th and 21st articles further guarantees for the rights of fishermen in the waters of the British Provinces in America.

Articles 22, 23, 24, and 25 provide for a commission for the regulation of differences arising out of said fishery privileges.

Articles 26, 27 and 28, provide for the free inter-navigation of the St. Lawrence, Yukon, Porcupine and Stekine rivers, as also of the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals and Lake Michigan.

Article 29 provides for the conveyance of merchandise in transit from or to any of the British possessions in North America through the United States free of duty, and vice versa.

Article 30 authorizes the conveyance of merchandise in bond from one port within the United States to another through the Dominion of Canada, and also prohibits the United States from charging export duties on any articles thus carried.

Article 31 provides that lumber floated down the St. John River shall pay no duty if imported to the United States from the Province of New Brunswick.

Article 34 gives to the Emperor of Germany as arbiter final decision upon the disputes arising in regard to the boundary line between the United States and British America west of the Rocky mountains.

By treaty of October 1, 1874, a general treaty forming a general Postal Union, was entered into between Great Britain, Holland, Belgium, France, Switzerland, and other European countries, together with the United States, whereby all postal matters between the several countries were arranged and regulated in full detail.

FRANCE.

The first Treaty with France was a Treaty of Alliance made Feb. 6th, 1778, "For the essential and direct end to maintain effectually the liberty, sovereignty and independence, absolute and unlimited, of the United States as well in matters of government as of commerce."

The Treaty of July 16, 1782, provides for the repayment of the loans made by the King of France to the United States, to be paid with interest at the times and places therein stated.

The Treaty of April 30th, 1803, ceded Louisiana, with adjacent islands, by the then French Republic to the United States.

Article 3 provides that the inhabitants of the ceded territory shall become American citizens as soon as possible in accordance with the Federal Constitution.

Article 6 obligates the United States to carry out the existing Treaties between Spain and the Indians.

Article 8 gives to the ships of France forever such treatment as is given the most favored nations.

Treaty of June 24th, 1822, regulates commerce and navigation between the two countries.

Article 1 provides that articles, the growth, produce or manufacture of the United States, imported into France in vessels of the United States, shall pay an additional duty above like articles imported in French vessels.

Article 2 provides in like manner an extra duty on French products imported into the United States in French vessels.

Article 3 prohibits a discriminating duty upon goods for transit or re-exportation.

Article 4 regulates the quantities composing the ton.

Article 6 arranges for the assistance by Consuls and Vice-Consuls in the arrest of sailors who may desert from the vessels of either country respectively.

The Treaty of July 4th, 1831 arranges the payment of twenty-five millions of francs by the French Government to the Government of the United States as indemnity to American citizens for all claims preferred against the French Government by citizens of the United States.

The Treaty of Nov. 9th, 1843, arranges for the extradition of criminals charged with either murder, attempt to commit murder, rape, forgery, arson and embezzlement by public officers, when the same is punishable with infamous punishment. They shall only be given up when the fact of the commission of the crime shall be so established as that the laws of the country in which the fugitive or the person so accused shall be found would justify his or her apprehension and commitment for trial if the crime had there been committed.

Article 4 provides that the expenses of any detention and delivery under this treaty shall be borne by the government in whose name the requisition shall have been made.

Article 5 limits the extradition powers to crimes committed subsequent to ratification of the treaty, and prohibits it for any crime or offense of a purely political character.

The Treaty of Feb. 24th, 1845, adds the crime of robbery to those for which delivery may be made.

The Treaty of Feb. 23d, 1853, regulates the rights, privileges and duties of Consuls in the respective countries.

The Treaty of Feb. 10th, 1858, adds the crimes of forging, or knowingly passing or putting in circulation counterfeit coin or bank notes or other paper current as money, with intent to defraud any person or persons, and embezzlement by any person or persons, hired or salaried, to the detriment of their employers, when these crimes are subject to infamous punishment, to those already named for which extradition is given.

The Treaty of April 16th, 1869, insures protection to the trade-marks belonging to the citizens of the respective countries, and regulates the manner of securing these privileges.

HOLLAND.

Treaty of Oct. 8th, 1782, was a Treaty of Amity and Commerce acknowledging the sovereignty of the United States.

Articles 2 and 3 gave reciprocally the subjects and inhabitants of either country all the rights, liberties, privileges, immunities and exemptions in trade, navigation and commerce, which the citizens of the most favored nation enjoy in the same.

Article 4 gives liberty of conscience and rights of burial in either country to the citizens of the other.

Article 5. The protection of vessels in the waters of either country are reciprocally guaranteed.

Article 6 guarantees free right of succession to inheritances, whether by bequest or ab intestate to the citizens of one country in property situated in the other, whether such heirs be of age or minors, regardless of their having obtained letters of naturalization, or any province, city or private person having set up the pretext, the right or prerogative to the same.

Article 7 gives the right for the subjects of either party to employ any advocates, attorneys, notaries, solicitors or factors, as they shall judge proper.

Article 8 prohibits the detention of vessels on account of debts or crimes, except after due legal proceedings.

Article 9 secures to merchants or commanders of ships, subjects and inhabitants of the countries named, the right to manage their own business upon the footing of natural subjects.

Article 10 requires of merchant ships the exhibition of sea letters, when the contents of the vessel shall be thereby protected.

Article 11. On discovery of contraband articles on board such vessel, they shall be taken to a Court of Admiralty and due sentence passed before confiscation. It also declares "that free vessels shall make free goods and free men."

Article 12 regulates the confiscation of neutral property when found on an enemy's vessel.

Article 13 regulates and prohibits molestation from vessels of war or privateers.

Article 14 provides that captains of privateers, shall, before setting out on their cruises, give bond for the obedience to this Treaty.

Article 15 regulates the return to owners of property rescued from the hands of pirates or robbers by the vessels of either party.

Article 16 arranges for the assistance and relief of persons and their effects, shipwrecked upon the coasts of either country.

Article 17 protects vessels in distress from imposition.

Article 18 defines the rights of residents in either country in case of war breaking out between them.

Article 19 prohibits the issuing of letters of marque to ships of either country, on war breaking out between them.

Article 20 prevents vessels coming on the coast, or entering the ports of either country, from paying any duties of entry in or out, unless they desire to break bulk or take in cargo.

Article 21 arranges the respective appointments of consuls and other officers.

Article 24 specifies the articles which shall be considered contraband articles.

Article 25 regulates the issuing of sea letters, or passports and manifests.

Article 26 regulates the right of visiting vessels at sea by the armed vessels of either country.

Article 27 provides for the enlisting of men into the vessels of either country in the ports of the other.

Additional Treaty of Oct. 8th, 1782, arranges for the restitution of prizes taken within certain times.

Treaty of Jan. 19, 1839.

Article 1 guarantees equality of duties on goods imported or exported in the vessels of one country with those imported or exported in the vessels of the other country.

Article 2 prohibits the levying of tonnage or harbor dues upon the vessels of one country which are not levied upon their own.

Article 3 arranges for the privileges and protection of consuls and vice-consuls in the several countries respectively.

Article 4 provides that all vessels furnished by either country with a passport or sea letter, shall be considered a national vessel.

Treaty of August 26th, 1852.

Article 1 guarantees reciprocal equality of duties, bounties and drawbacks to the vessels of both nations alike.

Article 2 extends this reciprocity to the colonies of either country.

Article 4 limits this equality to trade other than the coasting trade and the fisheries of either country.

Treaty of Jan. 22d, 1855.

This treaty authorizes the appointment of consuls-general, consuls and vice-consuls in the respective countries and their colonies, and regulates the inscriptions upon such consular offices, the inviolability of their archives, their communications with the government, their duties in regard to passports, shipwrecks, deserters from vessels, the estates of deceased residents, and settlement of disputes between masters and crews.

BELGIUM.

Treaty of July 17th, 1858.

Article 1 guarantees full and entire freedom of commerce and navigation between the inhabitants of the two countries, and equality of duties or taxes to be paid by the citizens of one to the other.

Articles 2 and 3 provide that vessels of either country shall not pay higher duties of tonnage in the ports of one country than are paid by its own citizens.

Article 4 exempts regular sailing steam vessels of either country from the payment of duties, of tonnage, anchorage, buoys and light-houses in both countries.

Article 5 provides that as regards the coasting trade of either country, the vessels of both nations shall be treated on the same footing with the vessels of the most favored nations.

Articles 6, 7 and 8 provide that there shall be no discrimination in duties on imports, exports, premiums, or drawbacks between the vessels of either country.

Article 9 exempts from the provisions of this equality the importations of the productions of the national fisheries.

Article 10 regulates what shall be considered national vessels respectively.

Article 11 provides that portions of cargoes not intended for importation, may remain on vessels and be reexported without payment of duties.

Article 12 provides that no warehouse charges shall be levied upon articles brought from either country into the other, while awaiting transit, reexportation or entry for consumption.

Article 13 provides that both countries promise reciprocally not to grant any favor, privilege, or immunity to any other state which shall not instantly become common to the citizens and subjects of both parties respectively.

Article 14 provides that wrecks or damaged vessels of either party shall be treated alike.

Article 15 regulates the duties and privileges of consuls, and their powers to arrest and deliver up deserters from vessels.

Article 16 exempts from transit duty, through Belgium, coming from or going to the United States, all articles transported on the railroads of the state.

Treaty of May 20th, 1863.

Article 1 reduced the fees for pilotage due in Belgium ports upon the navigation in the Scheldt.

Article 4 agrees on the part of these two countries to a capitalization of the Scheldt dues, provided all the maritime nations concerned shall accept their apportionment thereof.

Treaty of July 20th, 1863, accepts and determines the absolute extinguishment of the Scheldt dues in regard to the vessels of all flags.

Treaty of Nov. 16th, 1868.

Article 1 provides that citizens of either country who shall have been naturalized in the other shall be considered citizens thereof.

Article 2 provides that citizens of either state, in case of their return to their original country, can be prosecuted there for crimes committed before naturalization.

Article 3 provides that naturalized citizens of either country who shall have resided five years in the same, cannot be held to military service in their original country.

Treaty of December 5th, 1868, provides for the appointment of consular officers, regulates their exemption from military duty, arrest, other than for crime, and taxation, except when engaged in business, and exemption as a witness in court. It also regulates the inscriptions upon the consular offices, the inviolability of their archives, the rights of acting-consuls and vice-consuls, and their duty to make complaint for infraction of treaties and conventions between the two countries when coming to their knowledge. They shall have power to take deposition, to verify all papers, to make settlements of disputes between masters and crews, to arrest and return deserters from vessels, to make settlement of damages suffered at sea by the vessels of the two countries, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary between the owners, to provide and take charge of the proceedings relative to the salvage of vessels wrecked upon the coasts of either country, and in case of residents of one country dying intestate in the other, to make known such death to his heirs or representatives.

Treaty of Dec. 20th, 1868, prohibits the counterfeiting of trade marks entered in either country.

SWITZERLAND.

Treaty of May 18th, 1847.

Article 1 secures the free disposal and inheritance of personal property, whether by testament, donation, or ab intestate, regardless of the citizenship of the heirs, and provides that no higher taxes shall be paid by such heirs, than would be paid by them if they were citizens of the state wherein the inherited property is located.

Article 2 gives to the foreign resident heirs of real estate located in one country three years after the death of a party in which to dispose of the same without payment of other taxes than would be paid if he were a citizen of the state in which the property is situated.

Treaty of Nov. 25th, 1850.

Article 1 guarantees reciprocal equality of citizens with the full privilege of residence and carrying on business in every respect as fully in the one as in the other country, saving and excepting the exercise of political rights, or a participation in the properties of communities, corporations, or institutions, of which the citizens of one party, established in the other, shall not have become members or co-proprietors.

Article 2 exempts citizens of one country residing in the other from personal military service. It provides that no higher impost under whatever name shall be exacted from the citizens of one country residing in another than are asked of its own citizens. In cases of war or appropriation for purposes of public utility, citizens of both countries shall be on equal footing.
